Emergency Preparedness in Assisted Living (Kellie Van Ree, LeadingAge Iowa) 58 minutes
Emergency preparedness planning is crucial to effectively and efficiently manage all types of disasters in health care settings. Great emergency preparedness plans include identifying potential hazards, determining the potentially most impactful hazards, and establishing best practices in response. This session will provide discuss what Iowa Administrative Rules require of assisted living programs and what best practices can be implemented including examples of hazard vulnerability analysis, training of staff, incident command, and testing developed plans.

Self Reporting - How to Investigate Issues in Assisted Living (Stacy Hejda, Healthcare of Iowa) 37 minutes

Assisted living programs are required to complete incident reports for all accidents and unusual occurrences among tenants. The best practice following an incident is to investigate contributing factors, identifying the root cause, and providing preventative interventions to reduce incident reoccurrence. This session outlines common incidents in assisted living programs with investigative strategies to ensure program compliance.

Preparing & Responding to Survey (Stacy Hejda, Healthcare of Iowa) 104 minutes

The Department of Inspections, Appeals, and Licensing conducts various onsite monitoring surveys to identify potential insufficiencies within assisted living programs. This session will outline the reasons why an onsite survey may be conducted, what information programs must provide to the monitors during a survey, and the expectations following an onsite visit.

Fair Housing and Legal Challenges (Alissa Smith & Becki Brommel, Dorsey & Whitney, LLP) 112 minutes

Iowa assisted living programs must ensure that they are compliant with the fair housing laws at both a State and Federal level. Challenges are present even prior to a person applying to enter your program. This session outlines what the Federal and State laws entail and how assisted living programs can ensure compliance.

Life Safety Code in Assisted Living (Amy Fratzke, Department of Inspections, Appeals, and Licensing) 15 minutes

This session will provide the assisted living manager with an overview of fire safety precautions and inspections. A discussion of the assisted living emergency plan will be held including recognition of hazards, fire drills, alarm systems, and evacuation plans, including those with special physical and mental disabilities.

Clinical Management and Aging Processes (Holly Lear, Meth-Wick Community) 56 minutes

Complex medical diseases impact the daily lives of older adults. Learning to identify possible signs and managing these diseases to improve the quality of life of those you serve is critical to reducing tenant turnover. This session describes key clinical processes including infection control practices and medical diseases to provide an overview for program managers.

Use of Outside Resources (Cari Conrad, Friendship Haven) 59 minutes

Assisted living tenants have many options on who can assist with the tenants care such as hospice, palliative care, therapy, pharmacy, and medical providers. Incorporating the outside services into the service plan is crucial to maintain compliance and ensure that staff are aware of who is providing the service to the tenant. This session reviews different options for outside services in assisted living programs and best practices on incorporating in the service plans.

Financial Management & Funding Sources (Kathy French, Ryun, Givens & Company, P.C.) 45 minutes

Financial well-being of health care organizations is critical to the long-term success of the business. At times the overall financial success of the organization can be linked to the mission, vision and culture of the assisted living. This session will provide attendees with basic instruction on managing program revenue and expenses to aid in the long-term success of the program manager and the program..

Census Development (Stacy Hejda, Healthcare of Iowa) 52 minutes

Maintaining adequate occupancy levels is critical to the success of any assisted living program. This session explores strategies to improve occupancy levels in your program including customer service, presentation, and lead follow up.

Menu Planning (Julie Halfpop, Martin Bros, Distributing) 63 minutes

Menus and food service can be an attracting element for marketing senior living communities. Well balanced and healthy meals also offer numerous benefits such as maintaining skin integrity and bone stability. This session provides key details on establishing a well-balanced menu that is attractive, marketable, and is nutritionally adequate.

Food Safety & Sanitation (Julie Halfpop, Martin Bros, Distributing) 51 minutes

A key strategy to preventing foodborne illness is ensuring safe food preparation, handling, and serving. Additionally, sanitation in the food service area(s) are essential to maintaining a clean environment, equipment, and dishware. This session describes the correct food safety and sanitation strategies, commonly identified concerns, and a discussion on the inspection process for assisted living settings.
